FAQ:

Q: What type of brake pads should I use for my Suzuki GN125?

A: It is recommended to use organic brake pads for your Suzuki GN125. These brake pads are made of non-metallic materials and provide a quieter and smoother ride.

Q: How often do I need to replace my brake pads?

A: The frequency of brake pad replacement depends on individual usage and riding conditions. However, it is recommended to have your brake pads inspected every 6 months or 6,000 miles and replaced if necessary.

Q: Can I use aftermarket brake pads for my Suzuki GN125?

A: Yes, you can use aftermarket brake pads for your Suzuki GN125. However, it is important to ensure that the brake pads are compatible with your motorcycle's model and year.

Q: How do I know if my Suzuki GN125 brake pads need to be replaced?

A: Signs that your brake pads may need to be replaced include a squeaking or grinding noise when applying the brakes, reduced braking power, or a longer stopping distance.

Q: Are Suzuki GN125 brake pads easy to install?

A: Installing new brake pads for your Suzuki GN125 can be a straightforward process. However, it is recommended to have a professional mechanic perform the installation to ensure proper alignment and safety.
